

WITH THE WEEK OF Farm Safety upon us we run below the 10 commandments for farm safety, according to Maynard H. Coe, director of the National Safety Council.

Mental alertness, know-how and a common sense attitude toward farm safety are more essential to safety in agriculture than a long list of rules and regulations.

To be specific, listed below are 10 Commandments for Farm Safety:

- 1.—Keep machines in good repair. Make sure your equipment is in safe working condition. Keep all guards and safety devices in place.
- 2.—Operate tractors safely. Start tractors smoothly and turn banks and soft ground.
- 3.—Know and obey all traffic laws. Be a safe, careful driver and drive a safe car.
- 4.—Be farsighted. Don't smoke around the barn. Don't start fires with kerosene. Be careful with matches.
- 5.—Speak to animals when approaching them. Animals may "bolt" if startled, so calmly assure them of your presence when approaching.

6.—Be a good housekeeper. Keep things systematic in your home and on your farm. Have a place for everything and keep everything in place.

7.—Watch your step to prevent falls. Keep ladders in good repair. Make sure barn floors have no treacherous holes. Watch your step.

8.—Follow safety instructions. Following printed instructions can save your life. Read and heed whether they are "No Smoking" signs in the barn, or labels on machinery.

9.—Know and obey water safety rules. Don't swim alone. Know the depth of the water before diving in. Sit still in small boats.

10.—Apply first aid promptly. Keep first aid kits in the home, in the barn, and on the tractor. Seconds count when infection may set in.

Only Six Days Remain For Farmers to Sign For Cotton Improving

With only six days remaining before the deadline Jones County has only 317 farmers signed up in Cotton Improvement Group under the Smith-Dovey Act.

This was revealed Thursday by H. J. Matejowsky of the Abilene Cotton Classing Office, U. S. Department of Agriculture. He reminded farmers that group applications must be received in his office before August 1 to insure participation this year.

Group leaders may obtain applications from ginners, county agent or the Abilene office.

Under the Smith-Dovey Act, he explained, farmers get free classing and market quotation service from USDA. This gives them an advantage in marketing their cotton. It also simplifies the procedure for getting price support loans, and eliminates the fee for classing price support bales. That's because USDA's green card will already be in the hands of farmers at loan time.

This green card, showing the grade and staple of the bale, is also accepted by merchants in place of actual samples. By using one, a farmer can sell his cotton by telephone, if he desires, he concluded.

M-K-T Carloadings Show Slight Decrease

Cars of freight loaded on the Katy Lines during the holiday week ended July 10, 1953 totaled 4,288 for a slight decrease from the corresponding week of last year when 4,797 cars were loaded. The week's loading brought the total for the year to 132,799 compared with 135,772 at this time last year.

Loaded cars received from connectin railroads during the week show a gain, numbering 4,100 compared with 3,932 for the same week of 1952.

New Oil Production Holding Spotlight

LONG-HAIRED RANCHER—Pat Hamilton (above) drouth-hit rancher from Fargo, Oklahoma, told other cattlemen at Dalhart recently they should boost beef in advertisements. The meeting voted to form an association to work for price controls on livestock at the producer level.

Area fields around Hamlin were holding their own in the oil spot fight with a wildcat being started, two other offset and two completed for the week.

Five miles east of Hamlin in the East Hamlin Field, E. L. Wilson, Dallas, & Associates No. 7 Earl Whaley is a 3,200 foot rotary try. It spots 520 feet from the north and 2,278 feet from the east lines of Section 119, BBB&C Survey.

Robert M. Bass, Kilgore, staked the No. 1 D. E. King as a 4,700 foot project four miles west of Hamlin. It is to be 330 feet from the north quarter of Section 193, Block 1, BBB&C Survey. This puts it a half mile southwest of the LeBus Brothers No. 1 Barnett, active wildcat.

Bass No. 1 R. L. Goodgame, Section 206, Block 1, BBB&C Survey, Royston Field, has been completed for a daily flow of 542 barrels of 40 gravity oil in 24 hours through 20-64 choke with 600 pounds on casing and 430 pounds on tubing from 48 perforations at 4,524-32 feet. Total depth was 4,713 feet and casing was set at 4,711 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 356-1.

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company No. 10 Kittle Woodall, Section 205, Block 1, BBB&C Survey, Toler Swastika Field, has been completed for a daily gravity of 143.5 barrels of 40.5 gravity oil per day, flowing through 14 inch choke with packer on casing and 450-150 pounds on tubing from 36 perforations at 3,812-18 feet. Total depth was 4,540 feet, plugged back to 3,834 feet. Casing was run to 4,514 feet. Gas-oil ratio is 1,135-1.

Rancho Oil Company, Dallas, No. 2 City of Hamlin, J. Rodriguez Survey 357, wildcat seven miles south of Hamlin, was plugged at 5,815 feet. It was drilled three-fourths of a mile southwest of the firm's No. 1 City of Hamlin, plugged at 5,735 feet.

Warren - Bradshaw Exploration Company, Abilene, No. 1 Moore, Section 71, Block 2, SP survey, wildcat one and one-half miles northeast of Hamlin, was plugged at 3,805 feet.

R. & R. Drilling Company has filed plugging report for No. 1-A W. L. Martin, Section 113, Block 1, H&TC Survey, 13 miles northwest of Hamlin. Total depth was 5,320 feet.

Oil Production to Continue at High Rate for Month

Oil operators, lease and royalty holders of the Hamlin area, who have benefitted the past three months by increased oil production under proration allowances, were elated by announcement last week-end that production will continue at the same high rate at least another 30 days.

Texas' oil allowable, on the rise for three consecutive months, will level off in August at the current rate.

This was assured Friday when the Railroad Commission issued an order for next month retaining the present producing pattern in the state, which is 21 days.

Exceptions to the order also were left unchanged. These include: East Texas Field, 18 days; Hawkins, 19; Pantex, 16; Spraberry Trend, 11 and Picketon, 9.

The order will result in a daily scheduled allowable of 3,146,920 barrels, up 10,180 from the week ended July 11. However, this actually is not an increase for August as the 10,180 barrels are those accruin to the Spraberry from the increase in producing days from nine to 11 on July 16.

Until the allowable was levelled off for August, it had been pushed upward by 102,549 barrels through increases in May, June and July.

Two Hamlin Firemen Attend A. & M. School

Chief Lee Hastings and Fire Marshal Mickey McGuire, members of the Hamlin Volunteer Fire Department, are at College Station this week attending annual sessions of the state firemen's training school at Texas A. & M. College.

The firemen's school opened Monday and was to continue all week. Hamlin is afforded a credit on insurance rates by the firemen's attendance at the school.

Water Use Begins From South Lake

Hamlin Ranchers to Share in Release of Emergency Feed

Ranchers and farmers of the Hamlin area are sharing in the distribution of drouth emergency feed under provisions of the special relief program set up by governors of seven southwestern states last week at Amarillo.

The feed distribution is being handled in Jones County through the Production and Marketing Administration office at Anson. County Agent Bill Lehmborg also is cooperating in the movement with area farmers and ranchers.

Eight carloads of the emergency feed were ordered early last week, and 12 additional carloads were ordered later in the week for distribution to Jones County farmers and ranchers hit hard by three year so drouth which yielded little feed from crops and pastures.

Railroads Cut Rates For Emergency Feed Shipments to Area

Both railroads serving Hamlin last week joined other western railroads in cutting freight rates help provide relief for the drouth-50 per cent on livestock feeds to stricken areas of Texas.

Santa Fe System and Katy lines announced the reductions following designation of the drouth areas in West Texas.

Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico have also been designated as "drouth stricken areas" by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The reduced rates are effective on government billings or billings approved by the government.

Commodities to which the lower rates apply are: corn, bran, oats, hay, wheat (fit only for feed), soybean cake and meal, meal and pellets.

The railroads have voluntarily made this reduction in rates on livestock feed in an effort to help relieve the farmers and ranchers in the stricken areas, local railroad officials said.

Revival Begins Tonight At McCaulley Baptist

A Revival begins tonight (Friday) at the McCaulley First Baptist Church and will continue through August 2, according to report made The Herald Wednesday. Rev. Malt Erving will bring the messages at 10:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. each day.

The public is cordially invited to attend the services.

MISS LAKE WHITNEY—Representing the Lake Whitney Association in the Miss Texas pageant at Galveston July 24-26 will be an 18-year-old brunette from Cleburne, Paula Lane. In competition with other beauties from Bosque, Hill and Johnson Counties, Miss Lane won the Miss Lake Whitney title recently.

Change in Air Mail Service Announced For Hamlin P. O.

Announcement was made Thursday by Postmaster Perry Sparks that Hamlin will discontinue their morning mail run to Anson. All mail now will be dispatched from the local post office at approximately 3:30 each evening and catch a truck in Anson for Wichita Falls.

Definite schedule has not been set, according to Sparks, but will be done so soon.

The new connection will benefit Aspermont also, Sparks pointed out. Now when a person mails an air mail letter to New York it will be received sometime the next morning. Direct connections from Wichita Falls with a night plane to the northern cities are made possible by this new system, Sparks concluded.

Restrictions Still Effective; Rates Come Downward

Hamlin again has water through pipeline after more than 13 months of shipping by rail from Rule and Rochester. When rains fell last week about a six to eight weeks water supply was caught at the South Lake, one of the city's former sources of supply.

Rates have been dropped from the $6 per 1,000 gallons by rail to $2.50 minimum for 2,000 gallons and 75c per 1,000 thereafter, according to a report made Mae Bunderage, mayor.

"Although not off of restrictions for yard irrigation or car washing, the council and I think this will offer some relief," the mayor said.

Reason for the continued restrictions is the fact that difficulty could still be found in the Paint Creek water hook-up, through testing and other unforeseen failures.

Meters were read before the lake water was turned into the mains Tuesday, so the people will get the benefit of the rate drop on their next bill.

Paint Creek Reservoir water is still planned to be used around August 1.

Rev. Tex E. Culp to Speak to Brotherhood

WATER PROGRAM DESIGNED FOR FUTURE NEEDS

Water supply for Hamlin has been a vital problem off and on for many years. Several attempts have been made in the past to solve the recurring problem of where to turn to supply this growing little West town. And each attempt has been an effort to discover a better source of water.

Hamlin's two lakes west of the city offered some relief years ago. To be sure, they provided water during periods of crisis, but the quality of the water has gone from fair to worse. Even during the past few years there has been water there but, because of underground seepage and top-of-ground pollution the water is not usable for domestic purposes.

When another lake was built north of Hamlin several years ago, it offered possibilities at solving the water problem. The lake was an engineering bobble, The Herald learns, for which probably no one locally could be rightfully blamed. It is regrettable that the city's financial rating suffered from the repercussions of the bonding arrangements, but still it was only reasonable that if the lake's builders would not stand behind their construction the city should not pay for the worthless project.

Subsequent efforts at finding water in wells south of town were rewarded for a time, but it is easy to realize that tremendous underground reserves would be necessary to supply a city the size of Hamlin.

Hamlin's South Lake is a sound source of supply that no doubt will be used part-time for years to come—but God's heavens will have to supply the necessary rains to fill the lake. These necessary rains just have not come the past three years. When rains do come, the city can pump water from the South Lake cheaper than it can buy the water from Point Creek Reservoir. Thus South Lake will be an "ace-in-the-hole" for Hamlin for the future.

Now with the recent rains Hamlin will begin using water from the South Lake for local consumption, The Herald learned early this week. Although not in abundance especially, the water will relieve the hauling problem and also the consumption problem somewhat.

A redeeming thing about Hamlin throughout the water crisis of past years is that it has continued to grow despite the shortage. Certainly water bills have been high, and there have been restrictions which nobody relished, but all in all there has been little griping. Such a spirit will see us through this situation.

People generally will appreciate the present prospects for adequate water from the new Point Creek Lake. The engineering is sound, the dam construction seems practical, the watershed is adequate, and pipeline and filtering facilities are ample. We all rejoice that the water bugaboo for Hamlin is not as ghastly as it used to be!

The Right Road

A rising tide of interest has been shown in recent successful experiments in the feeding of livestock to produce a commercially more valuable animal. The results were publicized by the American Meat Institute, and were based upon work conducted both by that organization and by universities.

The new method of feeding involves the addition of inexpensive animal fats to the protein supplement which is a normal part of the diet fed cattle and hogs. This would be of small value, of course, if it added weight to the animals only in the form of fat. But that has not been the case. As the Washington Times Herald puts it, "A rather unexpected result of the experiments was that feeding fats produced, not fatter animals, but animals with a higher proportion of lean meat, a quality that increases their market value. If practice in the feed lots of the nation confirms these findings, another of the livestock industry's present problems may be solved. Petroleum products are rapidly ousting tallow as a soap-making material. Animal fats are consequently selling at such low prices that they could be added to supplement feeds without increasing the cost of the mixture." The Times Herald went on to describe other recent achievements in the field of agricultural research affecting cotton and corn production. The point is scientific developments and experiments can transform the work of farming no less than the work of industry. This, rather than endless government subsidies and interference with the free market, points the way to a sounder and more stable farm economy.

Old Trick!

Next time you hear someone damning the real or alleged shortcomings of American business, and demanding more government interference with the free enterprise system as the cure, it would be well to remember a recent statement by Secretary of Commerce Weeks.

This top-level official observed that, for more than 20 years, private enterprise has been "burdened by government, shackled by government, punished by government and then blamed by government for not performing as many miracles as it could have, had it been free."

It's an old trick of certain politicians to throw monkey wrenches into the wheels of progress and then blame everyone but themselves for the results.

Editorial of the Week

A DAY OF RECONSTRUCTION

The passing of July 4, Independence Day, makes me wonder if we don't miss the mark of national holidays that are set aside to commemorate the successful conclusion of great and heroic programs of accomplishment. April 21st and March 2nd are days that should be sacred to all those who love Texas and should revere its history and have great pride in our Texas achievements. Certainly, every national or state holiday ought to be given over to a commemoration of the stirring events which have played such an important part in making our state and nation great.

The reverential attitude of the British people generally which reflected the spiritual implication of the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth makes me quite conscious of and gives me a feeling of great regret that all of us Americans do not have more of an attitude of reverence that is embraced in our philosophy of life.

On July 4th, Independence Day, instead of observing a holiday free from work and marked entirely as another opportunity to fish or golf, worthwhile and commendable as both of these pastimes are, why should not each of us devote that day in the future to a re-examination of the joys and privileges we have inherited as Americans and at the same time, a recognition of our responsibilities if we are to measure up to the high standards of real American citizenship. In these days of stress and strain as a result of the fearful possibilities that confront us, the nation needs a practical attitude on every 4th of July day. Let us pray that a good, gracious and generous God may direct us along the paths of mutual helpfulness to the rest of the world and so the paths of peace. We certainly have enough fearful problems to merit our consecrated devotion and study to the end that all of us may acquit ourselves as worthy of the best traditions of American citizenship.—The Texas Parade.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

By Verne Sanford, Manager, Texas Press Association.

While Governor Allan Shivers was considering what the state could do to aid drought-battered farmers and ranchmen, he received a report saying that he can declare an emergency and get a $5,000,000 program going.

The report came from Attorney General John Ben Shepperd who, on the governor's request, had been digging into the legal aspects of the situation.

Action is authorized, said Shepperd, by the state civil protection act of 1951.

Much could be done without calling the Legislature into session, said the report, and there are other things that could be done only by legislative authority.

At least $5,000,000 could be raised, said the attorney general, by means of contributions from the cities, counties, and local government agencies, including water and other special districts; by using the balance in the governor's deficiency appropriation and by calling upon the public to put in $500,000.

"It is our opinion," said the report, "that you are authorized to mobilize and utilize the manifold services, equipment, and facilities of existing state agencies and political subdivisions to assist in a drought relief program."

The federal government is speeding up the job of getting money to Southwestern farmers and ranchers.

President Eisenhower asked Congress for $15,000,000 to finance a lending program. The Department of Agriculture already had posed.

It was expected that local committees would be ready to pass on loans by the end of the month.

Application blanks were being sent to Farmers Home Administration offices and, in some instances where the demand for loans will be heavy, to banks and Production Credit Administration offices.

Meanwhile, the United Livestock Producers Association, with members in five states, decided to send two association officers to Washington to ask for direct federal price supports on cattle.

The representatives are: S. E. (Eck) Brown, president of the association, and O. H. Finch Sr., a director, both of Dalhart.

Brown berated the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association for its "inability to work for the best interests of all livestock growers, big and little alike, to relieve price conditions." The T&SCRA is opposed to direct federal price supports on cattle.

South Texas politics and the name of George Parr, sometimes called boss of a big part of that area, came up in a Supreme Court hearing on whether District Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin of Alice should be ousted from his position.

Eleven lawyers who practice in Judge Laughlin's 79th district charged, among other things, that the judge had ordered bail boxes and election material delivered to the sheriff of Duvau County Parr's nephew.

Clint C. Small, representing Laughlin, told the court, "Apparently those who want Judge Laughlin removed were more interested in keeping George Parr from seeing the election returns than they were in prosecuting election irregularities."

It was the view of State Senator William H. Shireman, speaking for those who want to oust Judge Laughlin, that delivery of the election material to Parr was "in itself a corrupt proposition, making it possible for Parr to know how the voters voted."

The Supreme Court will study a case involving the entire procedure of the Texas Employment Commission in computing employer's taxes for unemployment compensation.

The court granted a writ of error to Todd Shipyard's Corporation, which had sued for recovery on $106,260 in unemployment taxes paid from 1948 to 1951. The rate, the corporation contended, was higher than it should have been.

Judge J. Harris Gardner in district court here ruled for the company but his decision was reversed by the Third Civil Appeals Court in an opinion by Associate Justice Robert G. Hughes, who said that if the Todd claim was upheld, charges and rates of every other firm in the Todd category would have to be re-calculated and federal recognition of the state employment law might be withdrawn.

Despite Texas' efforts to improve its state hospitals, those institutions are still overcrowded and suffering from a shortage of doctors.

So says Dr. James A. Bethea, new executive director of the system, who had just completed an inspection tour.

At Rusk, the situation is particularly bad, the doctor said, with about 400 patients sleeping on mattresses placed on the floor because there is a lack of space for beds.

Dr. Bethea made his reports to the state board for hospitals and special schools.

The board voted to inspect the hospital system after its next meeting in August.

Another state system—that of prisons—is going into the cattle business in a big way.

The system has 73,000 acres of land, unaffected by drought, in the gulf coast area.

Announcing that the system will buy 1,500 head of cattle, French Robertson of Abilene, chairman, said that cotton has long been the chief money crop, but there is an expected 25 per cent acreage reduction next year, and "we must look to something else..."

Prison-raised cattle have fed the inmates for the past two years, he said, and the new herd will be operated for revenue, not for feeding purposes.

Texas may have three governors next month.

Governor Shivers will be out of the state while attending the national governors conference, of which he is chairman, in Seattle, Washington.

Lieutenant Governor Ben Ramsey will hold the title during Shivers' absence. If Ramsey leaves Texas' borders, the job will fall to Senator Jimmie Phillips of Angleton.

Broiling chicken for a summer supper? Choose chicks weighing about 2½ pounds dressed weight; they'll be plucked but not drawn and have their heads and feet still attached. Count on a half of one of these slender birds for each serving. Douse the chicken in melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with paprika. Keep the heat moderate as you broil them. Turn several times and baste often. Cooked this way, you'll have golden-brown chicken fit for a king.

It has been a custom to let the president pro tem serve as governor for a day.

After the first year, committee members will select their own chairmen.

The law providing jail sentences on the first offense for driving while intoxicated is valid, Attorney General John Ben Shepperd ruled.

The law calls for a mandatory 10-day jail term, plus $100 fine on conviction, but the judge has authority to put the offender on probation for six months.

D. C. Gillaspie of San Antonio is trying to overthrow the Texas drivers responsibility act.

His contention that it is unconstitutional has been denied in county court at law, the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals, and the Texas Supreme Court.

Gillaspie's attorney, Ronald Smallwood, says he will carry the case to the U. S. Supreme Court.

16 of these big icing machines are in operation at ice-servicing points along the Santa Fe.

Ever see so much fuss just to chill an orange?

It's the best way there is today to refrigerate a "reefer"—but Santa Fe is developing an even newer and better way to do the job

In 60 seconds flat, the giant ice-crushing machines Santa Fe recently installed can fill the bunkers of a refrigerator car with five tons of ice!

They are the newest and fastest machines for icing cars yet devised. And Santa Fe "reefers" are the most efficient type of refrigerator cars now on the rails.

These refrigerator cars and icing machines have carried the technique of ice refrigeration to the ultimate of present day knowledge.

WHAT ABOUT TOMORROW?

We can't be sure, BUT—

Santa Fe is now experimenting with a newer way to refrigerate cars automatically for hauling foods which may require temperatures as low as 25° below zero.

30 new experimental refrigerator cars designed by Santa Fe, built in its own shops and each with a capacity of 128,000 pounds of frozen foods, are now being utilized in the movement of frozen foods.

Each of these new cars has its own thermostatically-controlled diesel-driven compressor-type refrigerator unit. It carries 400 gallons of fuel (almost the exact amount Lindbergh used to fly the Atlantic). It can maintain sub-zero temperatures all the way from California to New York.

BENEFITS FELT ALL ALONG THE LINE

All along the line, people and communities feel the benefits of this building new wherever it actually occurs on the Santa Fe—and day-after-day, something new is done to make "America's New Railroad" a little better.

The millions of dollars this newness costs Santa Fe doesn't cost you a single penny in the taxes you pay.

TAMALE PIE

Some of the best dishes of the Southwest borrow heavily from the finest Spanish and Mexican cooking. A typical dish is Tamale Pie. Tamale Pie is fine for serving to a crowd. Prepare it ahead of time and keep it in the refrigerator until an hour or so before serving time. Then set it in a moderate oven to bake while you wait for the crowd to assemble. Your friends will savor the combination of the bland cornmeal "crust" and its spicy ground beef filling.

Tamale Pie (Makes 8 servings)

2 cups boiling water
1/2 cup yellow cornmeal
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 pound ground beef
1 small onion, chopped
2 tablespoons margarine
1 small can tomato paste
1 cup sliced stuffed olives
Paprika
1/2 cup sliced ripe olives
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 teaspoon chili powder
1/2 cup beef bouillon or consommé
1/2 No. 2 can whole kernel corn
Dash of cayenne pepper
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shredded cheese
Stir cornmeal into rapidly boiling water. Cook and stir until thick. Remove from heat. In a heavy skillet melt margarine and brown onion in it. Add ground beef. Stir and cook until meat is no longer red. Add tomato paste, olives, green pepper, chili powder, bouillon, corn, cayenne and salt. Stir well. Taste to be sure this is enough salt. Line a shallow baking dish with part of the cornmeal mush. Pour meat and vegetable mixture into lined dish. Drop remaining cornmeal mush in spoonfuls on top of meat, and sprinkle shredded cheese over top. Dash paprika liberally over surface. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 1 hour.

Tropical Cooler

Tempting, cooling drinks are a natural part of the hot weather picture. A tall refresher is the first thing the hostess thinks of when a neighbor drops in for a chat or when invited guests arrive. It's the perfect aid to relaxation when you sit down for a restful hour after household tasks or a round of sports.

To meet the demands and suit every taste, it is well to have a variety of bottled drinks cooled in the refrigerator. Pale dry ginger ale and sparkling water, refreshing by themselves and blending well with fruit juices for drinks to please the individual taste should be on hand. For those who like a dry drink with a slightly bitter taste, haunting and pleasant, you might include Quinac (quinine water). There is something especially cooling about a glass of well-iced quinine water, and that is not surprising for the drink originated in the tropics where intense heat necessitates a beverage that really cools the blood. It is fast becoming a popular summer cooler in our country.

Quinac Cooler

Place three or four ice cubes in a tall glass and fill the glass with quinine water. Add a teaspoon of lemon or lime juice and garnish with a slice of the fruit.

Here is a refresher made with fresh pineapple:

"... Can Spring Be Far Behind?"

If there are strawberries on your table, spring is here! For there is no surer sign of spring—nor any more welcome—than fresh, plump, red strawberries. Whether, like one of Mother Goose's heroines, you sit on a cushion and sew a fine seam as you munch your strawberries, sugar and cream; or whether you leave your cushion for the kitchen and concentrate on this beautiful Strawberry Bouquet Pie, you are on your way to a treat! And although you'll probably think this coconut beauty is almost too lovely to eat, you'll be sorry if you don't—cause under the nosegay of luscious berries and the topping of snowy, tender coconut is a smooth creamy filling with still more berries!

Strawberry Bouquet Pie

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup sifted flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 cups milk
1 cup shredded coconut, cut if desired
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 tablespoon butter
1 baked 9-inch pie shell
2 cups strawberries
1/2 cup cream, whipped
1/2 cup shredded coconut
Mint leaves

Combine 1/2 cup sugar, flour, and salt in top of double boiler; add milk gradually, stirring until smooth. Add 1 cup coconut. Cook over rapidly boiling water 15 minutes, stirring constantly. Mix small amount of mixture with egg yolks, return to double boiler, and cook 2 minutes longer. Remove from heat. Add vanilla and butter. Cool. Cut 1 1/4 cups strawberries in halves and place in pie shell; then add filling. Chill. Before serving, spread pie with whipped cream, sprinkle with 1/2 cup coconut. Garnish with remaining whole berries and mint leaves forming bouquet design in center of pie.

Congressman Burleson Discusses the Free Tax for Distillers; Cattle Situation

As the old saying goes, "Here's one which takes the rag off the bush." The Congress has finally passed a tax relief bill. Whom did it relieve?—the liquor industry.

Under present law, distillers can store whiskey in bonded warehouses for a period of eight years without paying a tax on it. At the end of this time, the tax must be paid.

The Congress has just passed a bill which extends this period to 12 years. In words, it gives a tax holiday to the liquor industry for an additional four years.

The reason given for this measure is that the supply on hand is so great, an excessive amount would have to be placed on the market in order to pay the tax unless the period was extended.

As I said in a statement on this measure at the time of debate, it is a sad commentary on the conduct of this Congress that such a thing be permitted.

At a time when the Administration is attempting to balance the Budget as soon as possible; at a time when tremendous expenditures must continue for National Defense, the liquor industry is given a holiday from payment of taxes. The Excess Profit Tax, which is considered by most people to be a bad tax, is seemingly to be continued another six months. It will be the first of the year before personal income taxes are reduced, but the Congress gives the whiskey industry tax relief.

Those of us opposing this action attempted to force a Record Roll Call Vote, but were unable to muster the necessary number to require it under the Rules. We believe that if we could forced the matter to a Record Vote, members would have been ashamed to have gone on Record in support of such a proposition.

In a column in the Abilene Reporter-News by Bob Cooke, author of "The Waggin' Tongue," Roy Largent of Merkel, past president of the American Hereford Association, has written a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Benson regarding possible remedies of the beef cattle situation. Largent is quoted as saying:

"I ask only one step be taken by authorities, and this is to stop excessive, unheard of profiteering on the part of the men in between the producer and the consumer. "There is too much spread between cattle on the hoof and beef over the counter, or in restaurants and other dining places."

He is exactly correct. I have inquired into this matter rather extensively but have never received a very satisfactory answer. However, we all know that the disparity exists. I am continuing to make inquiries and protests, and have brought it to the attention of the Agriculture Committee of the Congress which is officially asking some searching questions of the meat packing industry.

The gulf between what the producer receives for his cattle and the price of steak over the counter has been widening ever since the first attempt to place a ceiling price on live cattle under price controls. When that was first tried, it cost the producer more than 10 per cent overnight. It so happened that the price of meat over the counter advanced by about the same amount at the same time. Also at about the same time, labor in the meat packing industry received about a 10 per cent increase in wages. All this was at the cost of the livestock producer and the situation has been worsening ever since, except at a few short intervals.

There is a lot of difference between the United States Steel Corporation, a cow, and a cottonfield, but they finally become related. Steel must be bought in the form of tractors and plow tools with cheap cattle, cheap cotton, grain and peanuts—even when it rains and these commodities are produced.

Some wise men in the Administration say we will have no depression. I hope they're right, but I would be more convinced they were right if these conditions were immediately recognized and something done about it.

CORNMEAL BUNS

Half cornbread, half rolls. Cornmeal buns are sure to be the meeting ground of many varied tastes. These buns can be served with virtually any casual meal, because they are different and refreshing.

Cornmeal Buns (Makes about 32 rolls)

1 cup milk
1 cup yellow cornmeal
1½ teaspoons salt
4 tablespoons margarine
3 tablespoons sugar
1 pkg. or 1 tablespoon dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
1 egg
3½ cups sifted flour (about)

Scald milk. Into large mixing bowl measure cornmeal, salt, margarine, and sugar. Pour hot milk over cornmeal mixture, stirring until smooth and margarine is melted. Let cool to lukewarm. Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Stir in cornmeal mixture. Add 1 cup flour and beat well. Add egg, beating thoroughly. Add enough more flour to make a medium stiff dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead until smooth and satiny (about 5 to 8 minutes). Round up dough into ball and place into lightly greased bowl. Cover with waxed paper and clean towel and set in warm place to rise until doubled (about 1½ hours). Punch down and let rest 10 minutes. Shape into small round rolls, about 1½ inches in diameter. Let rise in greased pans or on greased baking sheets until doubled. Brush tops lightly with milk, sprinkle lightly with cornmeal. Bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Serve hot or cold.

In closing his talk he said "that people need to learn that government needs to be supported by the people and not for the people."

Guests to the meeting included:

Riley G. Maxwell, Bill J. Stevens of Abilene; A. C. Bishop, W. F. Carson, James H. Beall Jr., Walter Terrell of Sweetwater; John L. Fertig of Slaton.

Strong Point in Livestock Market at Fort Worth Monday Are Calve Demand

Strong point of the livestock market Monday at Fort Worth was the demand for calves, according to Ted Goudy. Both stocker and feeder buyers and the packer buyers were competing strongly for the supply and the result was a strong to $1 higher market. Both replacement and fat calves stopped at $20 to $21 on Monday and were considered quotable over that in loadlots of the proper kinds.

Cows were uneven, selling on steady to easier basis, with prices about in line with last week's closing. Bulls were off $1 per hundred.

Very small numbers of fat steers and yearlings arrived, and grain-fed were very scarce. Some broadening inquiry is noted for suitable feeders and indications are that sizable numbers of these fleshy grasser and supplementally fed steers and yearlings will wind up in feedlots.

Sheep and lambs were fully steady. Fat lambs topped at $22 to $23.50, and feeders drew $12 to $16.50, and were quotable at $17 to $18 in loads and of suitable quality and weights.

Hogs moved at strong to 50 cents higher prices and again topped at $27, the year's best levels, and equalling the best price in five years at Fort Worth. Sows were steady at $23 down. Pigs sold at $22 down.

Good and choice fed steers and yearlings sold at $18 to $22.50, and are quotable at $23.50 and above. Common to medium sorts sold from $12 to $17, with some rambler yearlings $9 to $12.

Fat cows drew $10.50 to $14, while canners and cutters drew $6.50 to $10.50. Bulls sold for $8 to $14.

Good and choice fat calves sold from $17 to $21, and common and medium butcher calves drew $12 to $16. Cull sorts sold from $8 to $12.

Good and choice stocker calves sold from $16 to $21, and plain to medium sorts sold at $12 to $16. Good and choice stocker steer yearlings sold from $15 to $18.50, and heifer calves drew $19 down, and heifer yearlings sold from $16.50 down. Stocker cows cashed at $10 to $16. Older replacement steers cashed at $12 to $17.50.

Good and choice fat lambs sold at $20 to $23.50, while cull, and medium offerings sold for $8 to $18. Stockers and feeders drew $10 to $16.50. Fat yearlings sold at $12 to $15, and feeder yearlings sold at $10 to $12. Slaughter ewes $3.50 to $5.50, stocker ewes, $6 to $9. Old wethers, $6 to $9, yearlings ewes, $13 down. Two year olds $10 down.

Vote Aug. 14 on Wheat Acreages for 1954 Offer No Encouragement to Growers

Hamlin area wheat farmers, looking back over three practical failures due to the three-year drought, are not encouraged much by prospects of wheat acreage allotments being invoked because of over-production of the nation as a whole.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson Wednesday formally set a national acreage allotment of 62,000,000 acres on the 1954 wheat crop because this year's total supply will far exceed domestic and export demands.

The secretary also fixed August 14 as the date for a nationwide referendum to determine of farmers whether they will accept wheat marketing quotas they will be eligible for price supports on 1954 wheat totaling only 50 per cent of parity whereas the current level is 90 per cent of parity.

At least two-thirds of the farmers voting in the referendum must approve the controls. Officials estimated that at least 850,000 farms would be subject to quotas. The wheat supply is at a record level and action was designed to keep the wheat surplus from getting larger.

The planting allotment would serve as a basis for the quota.

The 62,000,000 acres compares with 77,500,000 planted for this year's crop. The new figure will be apportioned among the states, and the state allotments among the counties, on the basis of the acreage seeded for the production of wheat during the preceding 10 years, with adjustments for abnormal weather and for trends in acreage.

Wheat acreage in the Hamlin area this year was approximately 60,000 acres. Average yield was around six bushels per acre.

County allotments will be apportioned among individual farms on the basis of past acreage of wheat, tillable acres, crop rotation practices, type of soil, and the slope and lay of the land.

Each farm's marketing quota would be the amount of wheat grown on its allotted acres.

Any person having an interest in a wheat crop in 1954 on a farm with an acreage in excess of 15 acres, and with a normal production of 200 bushels or more, would be subject to a marketing quota and would be eligible to vote in the referendum.

Action of congress in changing the minimum allotment from 55,000,000 acres to 62,000,000 was designed to make the quotas more palatable to growers. It simply means that they will be asked to plant, on the average, 20 per cent less wheat instead of 30 per cent less.

Congress rushed the legislation through Tuesday and President Eisenhower promptly signed it. Wednesday was the deadline for announcing the acreage allotment.

The department said every wheat grower who would be affected by quotas will be notified of his acreage allotment before the referendum is held. It said full information on the local operation of quotas will be available from its state and county production and marketing administration (PMA) committees.

Grower decision on quotas

CLONDBURST HITS FORT WORTH SECTION—Rain fell in torrents Friday afternoon in certain parts of Fort Worth, causing flood conditions in a city worrying about its water supply as are many other Texas communities. Cars are shown fender-deep in the Linwood Addition, which last experienced such a flood in May of 1949.

could have significant economic effects for growers as well as for the entire economy. Should they be rejected, the rate at which the government supports the price for wheat would be 50 per cent of parity—or about $1.25 a bushel. If they are approved, it would be 90 per cent—or about $2.20.

Parity is a price designed to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they pay.

Benson has said the department will keep a hands off attitude on the question of whether farmers should approve or reject the quotas.

Acreage allotments will be in effect whether quotas are approved or turned down. But only those farmers who plant within their allotments are eligible for price support assistance.

Quotas depend upon a heavy marketing penalty for enforcement.

Farmers who cooperate with acreage allotments may market all the wheat grown on their allotted acres. Those who fail to cooperate will be subject to a penalty of 45 per cent of the wheat parity price as of May 1, 1954, on their farm marketing excess.

It is estimated that this year's total supply of wheat will be 1,700,000,000 bushels, which exceeds the normal supply by 48 per cent.

The last time allotments were imposed was in 1950, when there were 2,025,000 individual farms. In that year, 972,000 farms had 15 or more acres and were eligible for inclusion in the referendum.

A rotary beater of fine quality is worth the money you pay for it. It takes much less time and energy than a cheaper beater, and it will last a long time.

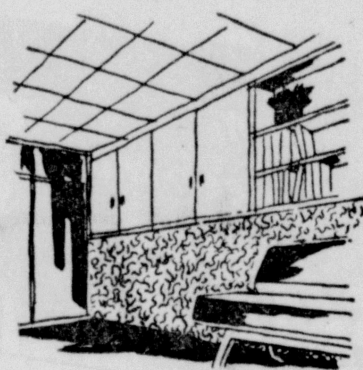

Why is it there are always so many people who need money?

Wainscots of Leatherwood

WAINSCOTS in a hall, nursery, den or recreation room that can "take a beating" and still look well, year after year, have the desirable traits of good taste and economy.

Among the hardboards, which are particularly suited for wainscots because of their wearing qualities, Masonite Leatherwood is a novel material combination.

ing rich appearance and durability. Its embossed surface has the appearance of Spanish-grain leather.

Leatherwood, dark brown in its natural color, may be painted any shade or in any pleasing tone-on-tone combination. Only one-eighth of an inch thick, the panels are four feet wide and up to 12 feet long. They may be nailed directly over old plaster walls or made secure with wallboard adhesive.

Wherever the lower walls in the home are subject to scraping and scuffing, a durable wainscot is very much in order. It ends such nuisances as cracks or holes in the plaster, torn wallpaper or smudged paint.
